

TRAIN–THE–TRAINER EDUCATION IN GERMANY

What is the programme about?

To implement a vocational education system, it is necessary to have skilled trainers in the local institutions. Our train–the–trainer (TTT) courses address teachers at vocational colleges who wish to learn competence–oriented teaching practice and to gain a German Trainer Certificate (from the professional training center of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry).

Programme structure

Participants in the train–the–trainer program gain in–depth insights into the dual vocational education system in Germany and, above all, learn how to apply the vocational education requirements in their own environment. Each training unit includes a practical exercise and ends with a final test.

In six training units, four fields of action are addressed in the TTT program. These are based on the vocational education process:

- check training requirements and plan training,
- preparing training and helping to recruit trainees,
- carrying out training and
- complete training.
